Fallscouts

(individual education coaches)
for immigrant schoolchildren

Fallscouts are there for immigrant children, youths and their families.

We are guidance counsellors in the field of education.

We are there for families. We provide guidance, advice and support.

In the neighbourhood, at home and in school

- We assist parents in dialogue with the school and on educational topics.
- We advise you and your children on how the course of education can be successful, where and how to proceed, and who can be of help.
- We are in contact with many counselling and educational institutions; we are familiar with offers for continued support and we also accompany children to sports or music clubs.

Meetings with the Fallscouts can be arranged individually – we are flexible both in terms of time and location.

In parents' cafés

- We invite you to visit parents' cafés in your neighbourhood – in family centres or refugee facilities – where we inform you on educational topics and answer your questions.

There are Fallscouts in every city quarter, and they can also visit schools where there is demand.

Please don't hesitate to get in contact if you wish support from a Fallscout.

We are there for professionals. We offer collaboration, support and networking.

Fallscouts complement the offers of the school social workers and also of the educational work.

- We support the exchange between immigrant families and the school or other educational and counselling institutions.
- We advise professionals in developing individual support concepts and in the coordination of offers.
- We provide guidance for intercultural work with parents at schools.
- If required, we attend parent-teacher talks or parents' evenings.

We cooperate with counselling centres and educational partners in each city quarter, thereby ensuring that families integrate well into the local community. If necessary, we work together with language interpreters and cultural interpreters.

Fallscouts are active in all types of schools and can be requested by any school.
